

Office Presence

Expand your business reach

Product overview

In today's digital landscape, businesses still need landlines to ensure reliable and professional communication. While mobile phones offer mobility, landlines provide a dedicated and stable connection and an identity that is crucial for businesses.

With e&'s Office Presence, you get more than just a landline number. We will provide you with a landline that you can carry anywhere, along with a suite of essential tools such as a virtual landline, domain name, eStore, website (do-it-yourself), payment solutions and more. These tools will help you create an identity for your office—hence, "Office Presence".

Why do businesses need Office Presence

Never miss an opportunity

With features such as landline on-the-go, businesses can stay connected with clients and team members regardless of their location, ensuring seamless communication and uninterrupted productivity.

Brand recognition

The provision of a domain name allows businesses to establish a professional and memorable online identity. This enhances brand recognition and credibility.

Expand your business reach

The inclusion of an eStore website builder empowers businesses to showcase and sell products or services online and expand their reach, drive revenue growth and gain competitive edge in the digital marketplace.

Value for money

UCaaS as a feature of Office Presence offers a comprehensive solution that integrates various communication tools, including voice, video, messaging and collaboration, into a single platform for the same price.

Payment solution

Simplify how your business accepts payment with a powerful payment solution that empowers businesses of all sizes, allowing you to convert any NFC-enabled mobile phone into a payment device.
