e& offers top quality modern hardwares to support seamless transactions and to empower your business’ automation

POS terminal

POS terminal is the device that the POS software runs on. Touchscreen monitors, iPads, and Android tablets could be used for the POS terminal.

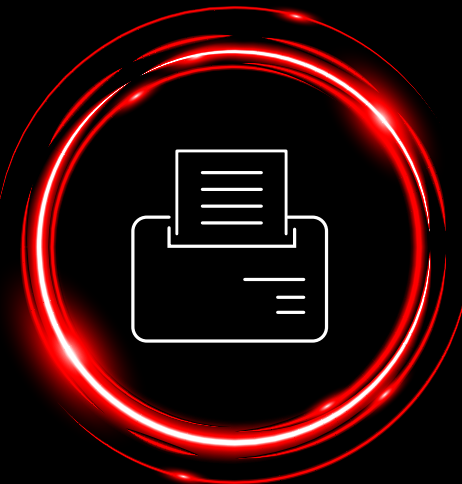

Credit card terminal

The credit card reader will be used to accept EMV transactions, NFC or contactless payments, as well as traditional magstripe (swiped) transactions.

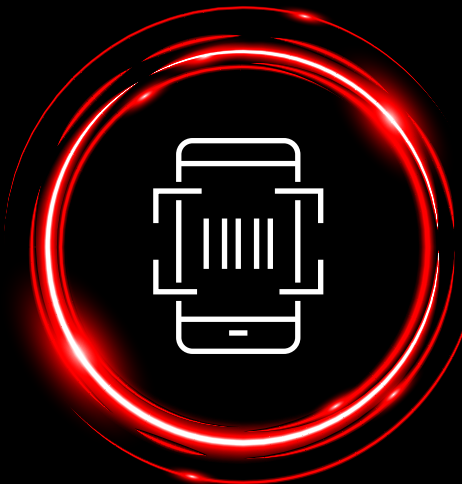

Cash drawer

To support the customers that still want to pay cash, businesses would need a cash drawer. Cash drawers connect to the POS terminal either by USB or Bluetooth.

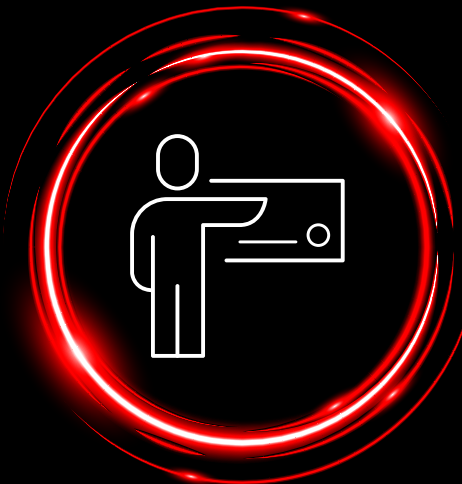

Receipt printer

At the end of every transaction, the customer is given a record of the transaction. This is the paper receipt produced by a receipt printer.

Barcode scanner

Retailers with a lot of inventory need a barcode scanner to help them manage, stock and speed up their checkout process.

Customer display

A digital screen that displays itemised order information to customers without interrupting the payment flow. Customers can view their order, tax, discounts and loyalty information during checkout.
